

Which Echo is Best for You?

Which Amazon Alexa Enabled device is right for you?

$69.99

Echo Dot

"The basic Echo device for any room in the house."

The Echo Dot is the smallest and most affordable device. It has full Alexa functionality, but the audio is not as good as the other devices. It can however be connected to other audio equipment via Bluetooth or a 3.5mm audio cable. So, if you already have an audio system that you want to use, the Dot is likely the choice for you.

$129.99

Echo (2nd Gen)

"The original Echo with room-filling sound."

The Echo is the second generation of the original Echo device. In addition to full Alexa functionality, It has powerful speakers with Dolby processing power. If you love listening to music, or you want the best possible sound, this would be the choice for you. Unlike the other devices, the Echo comes in 3 different fabric finishes. (Charcoal pictured above)

$199.99

Echo Plus

"Includes a built-in smart home hub."

The Echo Plus includes a smart home hub. And while all Echo's can control Smart home products, the Echo Plus makes it easier by automatically pairing with some smart devices (ZigBee light bulbs, switches, plugs, etc.) without the need for separate hubs or apps. If you want a simple way to control your smart home, this is the choice for you.

$169.99

Echo Spot

"A screen for maximum entertainment."

The Echo Spot is the first Echo device in Canada with a screen and camera. This has the full audio Alexa functionality and video functions as well. You can watch videos, make video calls, see news/weather, and watch baby monitors and front door cameras. For more information about the Echo Spot, check out this post here.
